

Results Show Seating Plan Lacks Interest

The results are in on the administration's revised seating plan, tried out for "Bells are Ringing," and it looks as though a majority of OU students just aren't interested.

During a two day advanced ticket sale designed to give students an equal opportunity to reserve seats, 553 members of the student body attended this year's musical. There are 2,500 day students.

Dean of Student Personnel Jay B. MacGregor said, "This new scheme didn't produce a single undergraduate who hadn't attended University Theatre productions previously. There also was a significant decrease in faculty and staff attendance.

"We will re-evaluate the seating plan and ticket sales system for the fall of 1960."

"However, on the positive side of the ledger," he added, "I'm sure that a better choice of seats was made available to students; so we will definitely continue to give students, staff and faculty an equal opportunity to obtain tickets."

Attendance statistics for the three performances of "Bells" were provided by Director of Auxiliary Services John F. Heckinger. His department handles ticket sales for all University Theatre productions.

Heckinger announced that 1,660 of the 1,876 available tickets were sold or picked up, but 1,504 people actually attended.

The 156 unused seats were "no-shows" (people not attending after reserving tickets.) This problem was one that the original seating plan revision had hoped to solve.

Statistical breakdown of attendance is as follows:

	Thurs.	Fri.	Sat.	Tot.
Complimentary Tickets (includes faculty, staff and press)	54	24	50	128
Student	147	165	241	553
General (sold of $1.50)	171	185	262	618
Extra seats added on	25	25	25	75
Fri. night and sold for $1.50
University Nights	13	165	2	180
Total Attendance	385	564	555	1504

"Interpreting statistics has many pitfalls, Heckinger added, but in comparing "Bells" to last year's "Guys and Dolls," overall attendance was down from 1,823 to 1,504 while ticket sales income was up $341."

The revenue increase is a direct result of the ticket price increase and the University Nights program, he said. Tickets for "Bells" were $1.50, a 50-cent boost over the year before.

Also contributing to the increased income, he added, was the fact that staff and faculty received only one complimentary ticket and paid $1.50 for a second ticket. Previously, two complimentary tickets had been made available to each OU employee as a fringe benefit.

arOund School Sing Entries Open to All Groups

Aspiring vocalists will have the opportunity to express themselves May 19 in the All-School Sing. Entries are being accepted today in the dean of students office (Student Center.)

The sing will not be limited to social groups this year; professional, honorary and other specialized groups may enter.

Names of each group's individual selection must be in by April 14 along with the names of the the Ak-Sar-Ben Chapter of Nation-

Mixed groups may enter only separate men's and women's groups in the contest sponsored by Waokiya and Omicron Delta Kappa, senior leadership honoraries.

Frank Fogarty To Be Journalism Speaker

Guest speaker for the fifth annual Journalism Awards Banquet April 26 in the Student Center will be Frank Fogarty, general manager of Meredith WOW.

Awards to students working on publications will be bronze keys, two semesters; silver keys, four semesters, and gold keys, six semesters.

Awards will go to the outstanding individual who has made the most significant professional contribution to mass media during the recent year, to the outstanding journalism alumnus and the outstanding student in journalism now.

Convocation To Honor Outstanding Students

Outstanding students of the past two semesters and the summer session will be honored at the Honors Convocation April 22 in the main auditorium.

Winner of the Philip Sher Essay Award will be announced.

Students on the Dean's Honor Roll or holding scholarship will be honored.

Speaker for the occasion will be the Rev. Charles Phillips of the First Unitarian Church. His topic will be "The Open Mind."

Classes will be dismissed from 10:30-11:20.

Election Petitions Due on April 22

Petitions for the May 4 election of Student Council members and Board of Student Publications may be checked out from the dean of student's office (Student Center).

Petitions must be returned to the office by Friday, April 22. Petitions for Maie Day Princess candidate must be returned to the office today.

Two men and two women from each class will be elected on May 4. Two seniors or juniors will be elected to the Board of Student Publications.

The Maie Day Princess will also be elected at the Wednesday, May 4, election.

OU Is Among 185 Colleges To Receive National Grant

Omaha University received a national monetary grant, the second since February, from the National Science Foundation, Washington, D. C.

The total of $16,850 is for an "In-Service Institute for Secondary School Teachers of Science and Mathematics," said President Milo Ball.

"The University was one of 185 colleges to receive a grant; 270 colleges requested the grant," said Dr. Merle E. Brooks, associate professor of biology and director of the nine-month institute beginning September, 1960.

"OU is the only institution within a 300-mile radius to receive this grant," Brooks said.

In February OU received $21,000 for a five-week National Defense Counseling and Guidance Training Institute during the summer.

Staffing the program at OU will be the heads of the three OU science departments: Dr. D. N. Marquardt, chemistry; Dr. James Earl, mathematics; Professor John McMillan, physics; and Brooks, biology.

Brooks said that three special courses have been designed for the institute, each of which carries six semesters hours of undergraduate or graduate credit.

The classes will probably be scheduled for Saturday mornings (9-12) and Monday evening (7-10). Each enrollee will receive tuition, plus $10 for books and seven cents per mile travel allowance.

'Thought We'd Never Make It'

Spring vacation begins for students and faculty Saturday at noon. Classes will resume at 7:30 a. m. on Monday, April 18.

All business offices will be open from 8 a. m. to 4:45 p. m. Monday through Wednesday and from 8 a. m. until noon on Thursday.

The Student Center will be open every day until Thursday noon. The new cafeteria will be open Monday only. The Student (Shack) Club will remain open for food service until Thursday noon.

The Gene Eppley Library will be open 8 a. m. to 4:45 p. m. until Thursday.

Student Teachers To Meet

All persons planning to student-teach in secondary schools during the fall semester, 1960, are to meet in Room Adm 208, 4:30 p. m., Monday, May 2.

Student's Reading Rate Climbs To 20,000 Words Per Minute

By Leigh Wilson

Meryl Scoles, an OU sophomore, has read at the speed of 20,000 words per minute with 95 percent comprehension, the Gateway learned late Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Harry Johnson, director of the reading improvement laboratory, said Scoles's rate is the highest speed of which he has heard. Johnson believes it to be a national, if not a world, record.

When Scoles, 28, enrolled in the reading clinic in February, he read 250 words per minute with 60 percent comprehension. Johnson said this is an average speed.

After ten practice sessions, Scoles had increased his speed to 1,000 words. In late February, he took a big jump to 13,300 with 100 percent comprehension.

His top speed test was only a few seconds long. At 20,000 words per minute on college level material, he reads a page a second. He said his average reading speed is only about 5,000 words per minute.

He feels confident that he will be able to better his record because he has a new idea for reading. "I'm going to learn to read a page at a glance," he said. Now, he reads by paragraphs. He has learned to find the main thought in each paragraph and separate it from supplementary material.

"Concentration, good reading habits, motivation and good eyesight are the main factors in good reading," Scoles said. He said he retains nearly everything he reads.

Scoles is new to OU this semester. He transferred from Kearney State Teachers College and is acquiring some background education before going on to Stanford to go into medicine. He plans to specialize in psychiatry.

Scoles worked as an insurance broker before coming to OU. He broke a national record by selling 26 individual policies in one day.

He reads an average of one book a day, most of them medical and technical. "This kind of reading takes a little longer," he said. "Usually three or four hours."

Frosh Honorary Initiates Five Men

Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary, added five new members.

They are James Gammon, Philip Hofschire, Aaron Peterson, Olon Zager and John Cady.

A 3.5 grade point is minimum for membership.

Indian Professor Looks for Creativity—

'Purpose Doesn't Keep Pace with Progress'

By Sue Worman

The Indian visitor settled a prime foreign policy question and unsettled much American complacency.

Dr. T. A. Purushottam, professor of philosophy and university principal from India, spoke on "The United States and India" at a Wednesday convocation, the climax of his three-day visit at OU.

Purushottam said India's impressions of America were "favorably changed overnight by President Eisenhower's recent visit," thus emphasizing the importance of U.S. diplomatic tours.

"America's mastery of physical environment and its deep humanity are impressive," he said. But along with his statement, Purushottam asked:

"What has America done with its saved energies? He pointed out the U.S. has transferred all burden to the machine and set free human energies.

"Why, when I sit before an American table loaded with food, do I feel a great pain within my heart? Somehow God has placed a surplus on your country."

He suggested world-wide adaptation of India's defense plan—moral defenses.

"India can be the spiritual teacher of mankind with a culture and religion which will set man free from his body, from hunger and sex."

India has another "spiritual stronghold, a stronghold from fear—truth."

"We have a firm hold upon truth, that no soul can cut it, no fire can burn it."

The United States and India were compared in that the destruction of democracy in either country would end western and/or eastern civilization.

Purushottam suggested a mixture of "our heritage and your ideals," in facing this same crisis.

300 Sophomores to Take Achievement Tests April 28, 29

OU sophomores will face two mornings of tests following Spring vacation.

The test set for the mornings of April 28 and 29 are a part of the National Sophomore Testing Program. About three hundred sophomores will take part in the achievement tests covering five broad subject areas.

"All sophomores who will have completed 58 or more semester hours at the end of the current semester will be required to sit for the examinations," according to Dr. Donald Z. Woods, assistant to the president and chairman of the sophomore testing program.

The tests will be held from 7:30 to 12:00 on Thursday, April 28 and from 7:30 to 10:30 on Friday morning, April 29.

President Bail will send letters to the eligible students on April 21. OU's Bureau of Industrial Testing, directed by Dr. William Jaynes, will administer the tests. Dr. Gale Oleson, director of academic testing, will assist.

Each student will be notified by letter of the tests results. An interpretive leaflet containing the student's profile for each of the five subject areas will be included in the letter.

The spring tests are part of a nationwide series of testing programs held every two years. OU first participated in the program two years ago when 248 sophomores took the tests. Results compared to the national average showed OU students ranked ahead of the national group in four of the five subject areas.

Dr. Donald Z. Woods, chairman of the sophomore testing program, said: "The tests are designed to assist both the student and the University." He said, "The tests will assist the student in analyzing his academic gains during the first two years of his college life, and aid him in selecting his major area of concentration. At the same time, they will assist the University in evaluating the nature and quality of its instructional program."

College Accreditation Is Growing Tough According to Bail

College Accreditation is growing relatively tougher, according to Dr. Milo Bail, president.

Bail was elected chairman of the Commission on Colleges and Universities of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at its annual meeting in Chicago last week.

A lack of sufficient income to provide proper facilities, faculties and laboratories is the chief factor in accreditation prevention. At the meeting 30 schools were added to the current list of 412 accredited schools. More than 200 schools are still applying for accreditation.

Bail is responsible for the leadership training program as well as accreditation study. Highly concerned with the tremendous drop-out rate, educators are searching for a program "to bridge the gap between the high school senior and the college freshman through more effective counseling and orientation."

Another problem is finding competent young students to go into college teaching, he said. This is a purpose of the leadership training program.

OU was last represented at the program in 1958. Schools are visited over a ten-year period through a rotation system. OU was visited in 1958.

Bail, who has been on the executive board since 1956, has served as chairman of the commission of research and service and was president of the association in 1954.

OU's graduate interne program serves the same purpose of the leadership Training Program at the local level.

Chemist Linus Pauling Addresses Students

Several hundred high school and college students crowded the campus last Saturday to hear a Nobel prize winning chemist speak by direct telephone line from Berkeley, Calif.

Dr. Linus Pauling addressed members of the Student Affiliate of the American Chemical Society and the Junior Division of the Nebraska Academy of Science.

Speaking over telephone circuit, amplified over loudspeakers, Pauling lectured on the "Biochemistry of Proteins."

After the lecture period, the students directed questions over the circuit and heard them answered by Pauling.

Chi O's Win Title In Intramural Ball

Chi Omega won the intramural girls' basketball tournament last week by defeating Zeta Tau Alpha in the second game of the play-offs 47-28.

Connie Claussen was high scorer for Chi Omega with 26 points. Judy Carmichael scored 13 points for the Zetas.

Chi O's won the first game of the play-offs with a 34-16 victory last Tuesday.

Chi Omega has remained undefeated all season and Zeta Tau Alpha finished in second place being defeated only by Chi O.

Joyce Stolley Assumes Home Ec Presidency

Omaha University (GPI)—Home economics student Joyce Stolley will assume her duties as president of the college division, Nebraska Home Economics Club, this weekend during the group's annual convention at Grand Island.

Eight University coeds, accompanied by Carolyn Kundel, home economics instructor, will attend the convention. Another OU student, Deane Heldt, is slated for a state office.

Used Book Sale To End Saturday

Saturday is the last day for Omaha University students to make bids on the used books on sale in the library. The book auction began last Monday at 8 a. m. with the beginning of National Library Week and will end tomorrow at 12:30 when the bid box will be opened.

Because of Spring Vacation next week, bidders will have two weeks instead of one to pick up the books.

Sullenger to Publish Trade Book in May

Dr. T. Earl Sullenger, retired head of OU's department of sociology, will have a book published in May.

It is "Neglected Areas in Family Living" and will be a trade book of popular readings and comments.

Sullenger, who retired in 1958, was recently appointed a "Fellow in the American Sociological Society."

Student Directors To Present 1-Acts

Members of play direction class will perform three one-act plays Friday, April 22.

The three will be selected from five considered.

"Three's a Crowd" by Clayton McCarty will be directed by Dick Bock starring Rod Ross and Susan Ewing.

"Pierre Patelin," a 15th century farce by an anonymous playwright, will be directed by Mrs. Cherie Shaver. Judy McKinney, Bill Griffiths, Tom Hicks, Carol Robinson and Barbara Woodcock have roles.

Peter Fonda plans to take his audience to a dusty Southern railroad town with Tennessee Williams' "This Property Is Condemned." It is a two-character play starring Judy Flint and Stormy McDonald.

Dave Selner has tackled a one-act opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti called "The Telephone." It is one of two ever written and stars Sally Jo Scott and Dave Carlsen with Kathy Sutton accompanying.

Norman Sample is directing the comical "Phoenix Too Frequent" by Christopher Fry starring Mrs. Cherie Shaver, Bob Riggs and Connie Hiner.

The productions, which are open to the public, are advised by Dr. Edwin L. Clark, director of University Theater.

Honorary Sponsors April Conference

Abstract components of leadership will be investigated during Waokiya's Leadership Conference, Wednesday, April 20.

Officers from every campus group are invited to the conference, sponsored by the senior womens' honorary to inform officers and sponsors of specific jobs.

An admission charge includes the luncheon and a booklet of officer duties.

A general assembly will open the conference at 9 a.m. Discussion groups will follow for presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries, treasurers, social chairmen and sponsors.

Dr. Ralph M. Wardle, head of the English department, will speak on unenforceable rules, character of students and the responsibilities of leaders.

The conference includes a luncheon at the Student Center and features discussion between sponsors and officers.

Members of Waokiya working on the conference are Chairman Laurie Frank, Sally Jo Scott, Jan Anderson and Jo-Ann Bentley.

Soggy Mud Slows Sports as Intramural Program Digs In

By Paul Beavers

Intramural softball and golf has been delayed.

How come?

Mud, that's how come.

The intramural softballers do their slugging at Elmwood Park. But the City Park and Recreation Department said no games may be played at Elmwood until the diamonds dry out.

Greens Like Sponges

Intramural Director Bert Kurth said he hopes to get the softball season underway about April 20.

The situation is soggy at Fontenelle Park, too.

Officials said the greens are holding more water than a drowned sponge in the Pacific.

Nine Golf Entries

Kurth said the divot diggers should be able to move on to the links on April 26.

Meanwhile, back in the softball department, Kurth said five teams have signed up. He said he expects three more to follow.

As of last Tuesday, Theta Chi, Physical Education Majors, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Pi Kappa Alpha have entered teams in the softball tangle.

Nine teams will be going for the golf crown.

They include the Tekes, Pi Kaps, Theta Chi, Sig Eps and Lambda Chi Alpha. The Phys Ed Majors and the Cellar Dwellers have also entered.

The Bootstrappers are sending two teams into battle, Kurth said.

Spring Thaw—and Mud—Prompt Schedule Changing

For most mid-western colleges, schedule-changing is the rule rather than the exception this spring and Omaha U is no exception.

Late snow storms, followed by a week of rain, clouds and poor drying conditions, left most ball diamonds, tennis courts, tracks and golf courses in bad condition for practicing, not to mention competition.

Consequently, the OU athletic department has revamped all of the schedules concerning spring sports.

Coach Virg Yelkin's baseball team altered its schedule and added another game to the roster. They were slated to start against South Dakota State Wednesday, but the game was postponed until Thursday. And the Thursday game against SDS will be played today at 2 p. m. at Offutt.

The added date to the baseball schedule is April 16. OU will take on St. Cloud Teachers College of St. Cloud, Minn., at 2 p. m. on the Municipal diamond next Saturday.

Monday the Indians will go against South Dakota University in Vermillion and Thursday they will be guests of Creighton University.

The Indians will return to action Tuesday, April 19 playing Hastings State Teachers College at Hastings, Nebr.

Tennis

The tennis schedule has one change. The match against Doane College, slated for last Tuesday, was postponed until May 11. Thursday the OU netters pitted their skills against Creighton.

Monday and Tuesday of next week the tennis team will travel to Washburn University in Topeka and Kansas State University in Manhattan.

Wednesday, April 20, OU will compete, on the courts, against the University of Nebraska.

Track

The track team has only one meet changed from the original schedule. Last Friday's triangular meet with Midland College and Dana College at Blair, Nebraska is postponed until April 22.

Tomorrow the OU cindermen will travel to Vermillion, S. D. to participate in the South Dakota University Invitational track meet. Tuesday, April 19 the track team will again be in Vermillion for the SDU Dual meet.

Golf

The golf schedule received a two-in-one alteration.

The scheduled match of last Monday has been split. It was originally a triangular with OU golfers pitting their skills against Nebraska Wesleyan and Creighton golfers.

Competition against Creighton will get underway April 21. OU will compete in a triangular against CU and St. Benedict's. Indian golfers will go against Wesleyan May 17 in a triangular with Morningside College. Both matches are home meets held on the Happy Hollow course.

OU golfers will join the tennis travelers in Topeka and Manhattan, Monday and Tuesday of next week. The team will pit its skills against Washburn Monday and Kansas State Tuesday. April 18 the Indian golfers will meet Nebraska.

Delta Sigs Drop One

Delta Sigs from OU and Creighton met in an interschool basketball game last week.

The Bluejays won 62-40.

Nebraska and South Dakota Universities were scheduled to make the event a tournament but were turned back by flood-closed highways.

Two games were held at Holy Name High School.

The Backlash— Yes, Virginia— Spring Is Here

Throw open those Fieldhouse doors, coaches.

Let out those cramped, pale athletes who have been forced to the confines of the indoor track, the batting cage and the putting course.

The blizzards have stopped, the drifts have melted, the floods have receded and even the parking lot is dry.

Now that spring has sprung we can all return to normalcy.

There are a few complications, of course, but for the most part all those rumors that winter had become a permanent fixture have been dispelled.

The baseball team, we note, has hesitantly cancelled its plans to go south. Not completely, though; they're playing down at Offutt Field (the air base, that is) today.

They're hoping that by next week they will be able to play at their regular home diamond—Omaha Municipal Stadium (we may not have the best team in the country but we have one of the finest college ball diamonds).

And speaking of that Thirteenth Street vacant lot, we wonder how attendance will be this season.

It's no secret that there was no magnetic attraction attached to the now defunct (that's an interesting term) Omaha Cardinals.

Were all of Johnny Rosenblatt's efforts to build one of the nation's finest below-the-majors ball parks in vain?

Judging by past performances by the OU sporting crowd, the Indians aren't going to salve any disappointment the good Mayor may feel.

It's sad to think that the combination of a winning team and a beautiful place to play can't draw enough paying customers to pay the light bill.

But perhaps the dark clouds could pass away.

It's true that the Indians' fame for baseball didn't really get around until they were playing in Alpine, Tex., in the national playoffs last year and you can't expect too many of the local fans to take their peanuts and migrate to Texas.

If some of the enthusiasts generated at that time has managed to linger through the long winter, then maybe some support could be rallied.

Students at OU must have some red-blooded American boy in them. Among five thousand or so enrolled, there must be some sports fans—but where do they go?

Not, we hope, to the Civic Auditorium on Saturday nights.

Sabres March to Drill Team Honors

OU's ROTC drill team, the Sabres, topped all other Air Force cadets in last month's Illinois Invitational Drill Meet in Champaign, Ill.

The results, released this week, placed the 24-man team in sixth place overall. Twenty-three groups competed.

The Pershing Rifle Company at Pennsylvania Military College took top honors at the meet, scoring 699 points of a possible eight hundred.

Eight Cagettes Honored

Eight girls received "all-conference" honors for intramural basketball this week.

Jean Severa, Peg O'Brien, Sharon Irvin, Karen Skanning, Connie Clausen, Sonja Green, Tudi Pacek, and Judy Carmichael were named to the WRA team.

Maxine Keuhl and Georgia Clark received "all-star" honors.

Rose Formal Dance Set for Tomorrow

The Rose Formal, Alpha Xi Delta's dinner dance, will be held at the Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel tomorrow.

The Collegians Combo will provide the music for the dancing at 9-12.

The "sweetest" and "meanest" actives and pledges will also be named and presented with gifts.

Judy Joerns, social chairman, is in charge of preparations. Members of her committee are Mary Buck, Sue Johnson, Beth Nelson, Barb Henry, Laurie McCann and Nancy Kautz.

SEA Elects New Annual Cabinet

New officers were elected at the Student Education Association meeting April 4.

Mary Hofschire is the president; Karolee Wybenga, vice-president; Marie Walters, secretary; Madeline Chappell, treasurer; and Judy Risley, historian. Linda Strnad was appointed publicity chairman.

The state SEA convention which was to be held at Wayne State last week-end was postponed because of flooding. It will be held later this month.

TKE Coral Dance Set for April 22

Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity will name its 1960 Coral Queen at the annual Coral Dance April 22.

The Coral Dance is open to all Greeks. The theme is the South Sea islands during World War II. Costumes are to resemble those worn in that area.

The dance will be held at the Carter Lake Club. Eddy Haddad and his orchestra will provide the music. Coral Queen candidates will be announced later.

Fifteen Angels were named at the Ball. New members of the society are Linda Zoeller, Mary Gundry, Midge Butters, Sharon Johnson, Lee Burrill, Barbara Blair, Diane Barker, Suzi Sipherd and Linda Veret.

Others are Karen Pope, Ann Pence, Daphne Robins, Delores Brewer, Joan Mencke and Karen Boylan.

Bermudas in Style For 'Paradise Lost' All-School Dance

The sophomore dance tonight will resemble a "Paradise Lost" with students dancing around in Bermuda shorts.

Palm trees and fruit punch will also add to the south sea atmosphere.

The 9-12 casual dance will be held in the Student Ballroom and will feature the Savoy Seven.

Admission to the all-school dance will be by activity card. Larry Schmidt, sophomore class vice-president, is in charge of decorations.

SAM Officers Plan Labor Conference

OU's chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management is planning a Labor-Management Conference in May.

Co-sponsor of "Labor-Management in the 60's" will be the College of Adult Education. The program will include a keynote speech and workshops in the morning, and a panel discussion after lunch.

SAM members on the planning committee are Larry Larson, president; Jim Zulfer, vice-president; Jim Allen, secretary, and Jim Welker, treasurer. Other committee members are Barb Stewart, Tom Malloy, Al Charnquist, Dick Kane and Ray Bottrell.

Society Elects Everett

The ROTC's Arnold Air Society elected Robert Everett commander for 1960-61.

Other officers are Donald White, executive officer; Charles Colvin, administrative officer, and Robert A. Wittekind, comptroller (treasurer).

Everett said he intends to make the Society more active next year with more social and organizational activities.

Five YW Officers To Attend Meeting

Five top officers of OU's YWCA group will attend a regional YMCA conference this week-end at Kansas City, Kansas.

Those attending are President Karen Clark, vice-president JoAnn Will, Recording Secretary Georgia Clark, Corresponding Secretary Judith Risley, and Treasurer Marlan Meyers.

The co-eds will be accompanied by Miss Nina Alleman, young adult director of the YWCA.

Art Students

Headed for Chicago Art Institute and Museum

Thirty members of OU's Brush and Palette Club will visit Chicago this week-end to see the Fine Art Institute and the Natural History Museum.

The members, accompanied by Dr. John Blackwell, will leave by bus at 8 p. m. tonight and will return Monday morning. They will stay at the Harrison Hotel in the loop.

Also on the agenda is a visit to the Blue Note, noted night club.

Members will pay $12. The rest of the expenses will be covered by the club's 1959 art auction.

A special activity for the students last week was participation in an art display at the Joslyn Museum.

DUAL FILTER DOES IT!

Filters for flavor as no single filter can

HERE'S HOW THE DUAL FILTER DOES IT:

1. It combines a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL... definitely proved to make the smoke of a cigarette mild and smooth...
2. with a pure white outer filter. Together they bring you the best of the best tobaccos—the mildness and taste that pay off in pleasure!
